INTERNATIONAL WALKING FEDERATION WORLD CHAMPIONSHIPS FOR WOMEN

From the 1960s the International Walking Federation conducted its own world championships for women. In 1980, 1982 and 1984, Australian women competed in these prestigious events. In 1980, only Sue Cook was selected. In 1982, 6 walkers went – Sue, Lorraine Young, Anne Miller and Rachel Thompson for the 5 km and Roseanne Smith and Frances Toohey for the 10 km. In 1984, only Sue and Lorraine were selected.

From 1982 women's racewalking world records were accepted and it was believed that events would soon be included in major IAAF meetings. Thus the last staging of the International Walking Federation Womens Championships was held in 1984. Womens walks were added to the IAAF World Indoors in 1985 and in the IAAF World Track and Field Titles in 1987.

WORLD WALKING CHAMPIONSHIPS / LUGANO CUP

Although this prestigious event started in the early 1960s as a team based World Championship called the Lugano Cup, Australia did not send its first team until 1979. Since then, Australia has participated in every staging. Indeed, the team nature of the event has enabled Australia to send many younger developing walkers and this has been directly responsible for the incredible improvement in depth and standard of Australian walking in the last 25 years.
