

HISTORY OF THE PARIS-COLMAR EVENT

The famous PARIS-STRASBOURG event has been the yardstick by which the top ultra distance walkers have measured themselves for over 80 years. In 1926, Emile Anthoine, President of le Cercle des Sports de France, launched a 504 km event and some 50 walkers took up the challenge. It made sense to start the event in Paris while Strasbourg, the capital of Alsace, was chosen as the finish point. Strasbourg was chosen to reinforce the French links with the Alsace region, recently returned to the motherland after the Great War.

The 1926 event was won by French walker Jean Linder who covered the 504km in 78 hours and 47 minutes. He won it again the following year in a much faster 72 hours and 1 minute. The following photo shows him after the win. To recognise his performance, many walkers wear a beret in the first stage.

Jean Linder who won the first two editions of the Paris-Colmar in 1926 and 1927

Soon after the Second World War, the event swapped direction to become the STRASBOURG-PARIS.

In 1981, on the initiative of Francis Jenevein, the finish was changed to COLMAR and the event was rebadged as the PARIS-COLMAR. The distance has varied from year to year as the event weaved its way through different towns, like the famous Tour de France in the cycling world. Even so, the event was normally 440+ km in distance (the record is 552 km in 1952) and was walked almost continuously, with only a small number of compulsory rest spots.

In the early days, there was no time limit and the last finisher might be some 4-5 days behind the winner. Eventually, time limits were brought in and nowadays those competitors not able to reach the intermediate timing points within the set times are compulsorily withdrawn from the race.

An event was added for women in 1989; this event was held concurrently with the men's event, started from Chalons en Champagne and annually traversed more than 300+ kilometers to also finish at Colmar.

It was not an event for the inexperienced. In recent years, strict qualifying criteria were put into place and qualifying events (over 200 km for men and 170 km for women) were held. Entry to the PARIS-COLMAR was by invitation only and only the very best were invited. The event was run by le Cercle des Sports de France, under the control of the French Federation of Athletics, with financial support from the local and territorial communities and other partners and volunteers. It was indeed a team effort of vast proportions.

And perhaps this was its downfall. Both the 2004 and 2010 events were cancelled by host association, the "Circle of Sports of France" for Budgetary Reasons. Thank goodness that new organisers were found for 2011, but the euphoria was short lived.

After the 2014 event, the organisers decided to revamp the race, announcing that the 2015 event would go from Paris to Strasbourg and would be changed to a stages event like the Tour de France. The outcry was immediate and a rival event was planned, similar to the current Paris-Colmar event, but going from the Paris suburb of Neuilly sur Marne to the Alsace city of Ribeauville, almost on the French German border and in the foothills of the Vosges Mountains.

The Paris-Ribeauville concept won out and went ahead in 2015. Now badged as the PARIS-ALSACE, this event is held in 4 stages and covers approximately 430km for men and 320km for women.

Over the years, the event has seen a number of champions who have dominated their eras. The best of them are

Zbigniew KLAPA	5 wins	1990-92, 1995, 1999
Edith COUHE (F)	5 wins	1988-1992
Gilbert ROGER	6 wins	1949, 1953-54, 1956-58
Dimitri OSPIOV	6 wins	2009, 2012, 2014-2016
Roger QUEMENER	7 wins	1979, 1983, 1985-89
Gregorz URBANOWSKI	10 wins	1994, 1996-98, 2001-2003, 2005-2007

Gregorz URBANOWSKI stands alone as the greatest of all time. His current domination of the event shows no signs of being broken. The Polish walker amassed a record 10 wins and consistently showed an ability to sustain a pace that no one else could match. With an impeccable technique, he consistently walked the 530+ km distance in a little over 60 hours, a seemingly impossible feat for a runner, much less a walker!

The following table traces the history of the event through the years

The 2010 edition of the Paris Colmar walking race was canceled by ITS host association, the "Circle of Sports of France" for Budgetary Reasons.

The question about the organization in 2011 was answered a few months later in the year, thanks to the establishment of the association "Paris Colmar à la Marche", chaired by Mrs Anne-Marie NOIR, CEO of Monaco Laboratories ASEPTA AKILEINE, sponsor and co-organizer of Paris Colmar since 1949.

"I am very pleased to be able to make the largest walking race in the world start again on new bases. We will combine our efforts with the young Parisian company SBE to restore the Paris Colmar walking race to its former glory and even increase its attractiveness. The organizing team will be entirely new, new sponsors will join us, we will focus on increasing substantially the prizes awarded to the walkers, on communication and on entertainments around the event", said the new President.

The dates: Wednesday 22 to Saturday 25 June 2011.

Note that the persons in charge of the technical organisation will be two former great walkers, Jean Cecillon, Director and Jean-Claude Gouvenaux, Commissioner General (winner in 1984) and that it is the "Neuilly-sur-Marne Athletisme Club" which will be in contact with FFA (Fédération Française d'Athlétisme), as it is from the town of Neuilly sur Marne that the participants will start.

PARIS – COLMAR22-25 JUNE 2011*85th anniversaire – 63rd édition – 29th Paris-Colmar

After a 1 year break, the Paris-Colmar classic returned on 22-24 June 2011, starting at Neuilly-sur-Marne in outer Paris on the Wednesday evening and finishing on the Saturday afternoon in the city of Colmar

Men: 439.3km, Paris to Colmar

This year, the men contested a Prologue and 4 Stages, with very little time to recover between each effort, total distance 439.3km (note the doco says 5km for the Prologue but the times indicate it was more probably 3km).

Wed 22 June, 2:30PM	Prologue: Paris (5km)
Wed 22 June, 7PM	Stage 1: Neuilly-sur-Marne to Saint-Thibault de Vignes (15km)
Wed 22 June, 10PM	Stage 2: La Ferte-soux-Jouarre to Baccarat (356.5km)
Sat 25 June, 9:30AM	Stage 3: Corcieux to Colmar (62.8km)

French ultra distance legend David Regy was the first to finish Stage 1 (20km in 1:39:51) and he continued to build his lead in the long second stage. Unfortunately, not far from Baccarat, he was forced to abandon the race and was taken to hospital. This left the way open for Russian ultra specialist and defending champion Dmitriy Osipov to take the overall line honours - 439km in 56:46:11. Such is the toughness of this race that many of the walkers failed to reach the intermediate checkpoints within the designated times and were withdrawn. Consequently, only 6 of the original 19 starters reached Colmar.

Women: 297.7km, Paris to Colmar

The timetable for the women read a little differently - a shorter distance overall (297.7km) and a break between stages 1 and 2.

Wed 22 June, 2:30PM	Prologue: Paris (5km)
Wed 22 June, 7PM	Stage 1: Neuilly-sur-Marne to Saint-Thibault de Vignes (22km)
Thurs 22 June, 8PM	Stage 2: Vitry-le-Francois to Baccarat (208.9km)
Sat 25 June, 11AM	Stage 3: Corcieux to Colmar (62.8km)

This year saw a new winner in Dominique Alvernhe of France who completed the 297.7km in 38:43:50, over 2 hours ahead of 2003 winner Irina Poutintseva of Russia. Alvernhe lead the whole way so was a deserving winner. Like with the men, the race took its toll with only 4 of the 10 starters making it all the way to Colmar.

PARIS – COLMAR20-23 JUNE 2012*86th anniversaire – 64th édition – 30th Paris-Colmar

In 2012, men and women competitors walked the first two stages together, a short 5.4 km prologue in Paris followed by a 21 km leg from Neuilly-sur-Marne to St Thibaut des Vignes. Then the women waited for their race to start in earnest from Vitry-le-Francois, some 173km down the road.

Russian Dmitryi Ossipov, a dual winner in 2009 and 2011, was again the logical favorite in the men's event but the French were hoping for a local victory with the likes of Jean-Marie Rouault, David Régy, Dominique Bunel and Gilles Letessier in action. In the women's race, Dominique Alvernhe went in as the favourite but was expected to have to fight off the talented young Nicoletta Mizera and the experienced Claudine Anxionnat.

The men's race in particular was one of drama. As expected, Ossipov was nearly an hour in front with 3 stages and some 63km to go when he tore his thigh and started to suffer internal bleeding. In a lesser race, it would have spelt the end and the doctors would have taken him off the course. But this is the famous Paris-Colmar and this was not an option for the Russian walker. As his lead diminished, he fought both the clock and himself and tried to maintain his narrow lead over French walker Phillippe Thibaux. Things were further complicated for him when he took a five minute penalty, the judges deciding his style was not sufficiently good. Finally, he arrived at Colmar, limping but with a vital 8 minute gap over the Frenchman, to claim his third victory.

The women's race saw the four top ranked walkers fill the first 4 places in that order with Dominique Alvernhe taking victory for France in a time of 36:33:18 ahead of former winner Irina Poutinseva of Russia and French walker Maggy Labyille who was only 6 seconds ahead of the Italian Nicoletta Mizera ... six seconds after 289 kilometers of racing! In the words of Roger Quemeneur, a seven times winner and now a spectator: "In the Paris-Colmar, everything is outsized..."

PARIS – COLMAR
87th anniversaire – 65th édition – 31st Paris-Colmar

12-15 JUNE 2013

The longest of the classic walks in 2013 saw men testing themselves over a total distance of 436.4km in 4 stages and the women contesting a total distance of 308.1km in 4 stages as follows:

Men: 4 Stages (436.4km)	Prologue : Paris	5,3km
Stage 2 :	Neuilly sur Marne -> St Thibault des vignes	15,3 km
Stage 3 :	Château Thierry -> Vittel	349,6 km
Stage 4 :	Plainfaing -> Colmar	66,2 km

Women: 4 Stages (308.1km)	Prologue : Paris	5,3 km
Stage 2 :	Neuilly sur Marne -> St Thibault des vignes	21,0 km
Stage 3 :	Vitry le François -> Vittel	215,6 km
Stage 4 :	Plainfaing -> Colmar	66,2 km

The pre-race favourites were Russian walker Dmitryi Ossipov (triple winner in 2009, 2011 and 2012) and French walker Dominique Alvernhe (also a triple winner in 2009, 2011 and 2012) but they each missed out on the top spot on their respective podiums. In the men's race, Jean Marie Roualt became the first French male winner since 1993 with his final time of 54:10:59, beating Ossipov by a whopping 48 minutes. In the women's race, Irina Poutinseva of Russia (former winner in 2000 and 2003) won in 40:28:42 ahead of Italian Nicoletta Mizera while Alvernhe failed to finish. It is indeed a brutal race.

88th anniversaire – 66th édition – 32nd Paris-Colmar

On Saturday 7th June, Russian ultra distance specialist Dmitriy Osipov crossed the finish line in blazing sunshine at Place Rapp in Colmar. It marked the completion of an epic 426.4km walk in 4 stages from Paris to Colmar with temperatures on the Friday and Saturday topping 35oC. His finishing time of 52:45:56 saw him win the toughest race on the world walking calendar for a fourth time, his average speed an amazing 8.081km/hr. He was followed by French walker Emmanuel Lassalle with a time of 52:56:44, second placed for the second time. It was a close battle for third with André Duterte eventually taking the bronze with 57:44:28, just ahead of Zoltàn Czukor with 57:45:32.

Olga Borisova won the women's race, also over 4 stages and a total distance of 282.4km, in 39:11:48 ahead of French walker Maggy Labyille and Russian walker Irina Poutintseva. Overall, 14 men and 7 women finished this most gruelling of events.

The event started with a prologue of 5.3km in central Paris before a slightly longer stage from Neuilly sur Marne to Saint Thibault des Vignes (15.3km for men and 21.4km for women). Then the event really ramped up with the third stage to Vittel (339.8km for men and 202.1km for women) before a final stage of 70km from Plainfaing to Colmar.

PARIS – ALSACE3-6 JUNE 2015*89th anniversaire – 67th édition – 1st Paris-Alsace

The annual event, which had gone from Paris to Colmar in recent years, was changed for 2015 and wound its way from the Paris suburb of Neuilly sur Marne to the Alsace city of Ribeauville, almost on the French German border and in the foothills of the Vosges Mountains.

The classic started on the Wednesday evening, with 4 stages making a total of 426.5km for men and 321.5km for women.

The first stage was 12km, from Neuilly-sur-Marne to Torcy (men and women)	Start Wednesday 18:45
The second stage was 25km, from Charly to Chateau-Thierry (women only)	Start Wednesday 22:00
The second stage was 358km, between Chateau-Thierry and Epinal (for men)	Start Wednesday 22:00
The third stage was 216km long between Vitry en Perthois and Epinal (for women)	Start Thursday 15:00
The final stage was 57km long between Plainfaing and Ribeauville (men and women)	Start Saturday at 9:00

As has been the case in the last few stagings, Hungarian former Olympic walker Zoltan Czukur led for the first 150km before Russian walker Dmitriy Ossipov overtook him, going on to win for the fifth time, this time by over 5 hours with his time of 55:19:04. High temperatures played havoc with the field and, with the heat peaking on Friday at more than 35oC, many of the favourites, including French walkers Remi Bonotte and Emmanuel Lassalle were forced to stop.. Strong rain arrived on Saturday during the last stage but by then the damage was done.

Overall, 8 men and 8 women finished the full distance within the required timeframe.

PARIS – ALSACE1-4 JUNE 2016*90th anniversaire – 68th édition – 2nd Paris-Alsace

The 2016 classic started as usual on the Wednesday evening, with 4 stages for the women (a total of 311.2km) and 3 stages for the men (a total of 425.3km). The stages this year were as follows

The prologue of 14.6km, from Neuilly-sur-Marne to St Thibaut des vignes (men and women)	Start Wed 18:45
The second stage for women was 15km, from Charly-sur-Marne to Chateau-Thierry	Start Wed 22:15
The second stage for men was 353.8km, between Chateau-Thierry and Epinal	Start Wed 22:30
The third stage for women was 222.4km long between Vitry en Perthois and Epinal	Start Thu 16:00
The final stage was 56.9km long between Plainfaing and Ribeauville (men and women)	Start Sat 10:00

The main men's stage of 353.8km from Chateau-Thierry to Epinal was interrupted after 188km by a mandatory two hour break in Bar-le-Duc. Apart from that, it was 353km in one long walk, with walkers reaching Epinal between late night Friday and early Saturday morning. All walkers still in the race then met on the Saturday morning at 10am to start the last 56.9km stage which included a hill climb to an altitude of 1150m. The distance of this year's race totaled to 425.3 km and was expected to take from 52 to 65 hours.

You may remember the record floods that plagued Paris in early June of 2016. That weather also followed competitors in their long walk which was cold and wet, with wind and fog in the mountains. The great Russian walker Dmitriy Ossipov won once again (his sixth win) but only by 51 minutes, much closer than last year. French walkers Emmanuel Lassalle, Jean-Marie Rousault and David Regy filled the next 3 positions, followed by former Czech and now USA based Ivo Majetic, making a comeback to the event after a long absence. Overall, 10 men finished. It was a great return for Lassalle who was forced to retire from last year's race with heat stroke.

The women's walk was won by Russia's Irina Poutintseva, her 4th win out of 10 starts. Fellow Russian Olga Borisova was second, Sylvie Maison was third and GBR's Suzanne Beardsmore was fourth. Overall, 5 women finished their race.
